"Free Enterprise Forum"

Wave 22 Mar 1984

The Wasatch Chapter of FBLA attended a Mountain Region FBLA Forum in Park City on Wednesday, March 7. It was hosted by the Park City FBLA. Their advisor is Arlene Bergner. The speakers included:

Renee Daines, owner of the FLOWER BOX in Park City. She was a 1960 graduate of the University of Utah and taught in the educational system for nine years. She has been a Utah State PTA Board Member.

Albert C. Cooper, the founder of his own marketing consulting firm AL COOPER ASSOCIATES and a publishing subsidiary, ENVIRO GRAPHICS, and a partner in Intersearch. He comes from Vermont and is the author of FOUR SEASONS COUNTRY and is currently commissioned to write two historic books on American Indians.

Ed Yager, president of Yager Associates has spent over 20 years managing and consulting in organization and management systems. He is the author of four books and over 100 articles. Mr. Yager comes from Pleasant Ridge, Michigan.

Each of the speakers told about themselves and the part of the business world they are now involved in. They gave several ideas to the members including: You can be what you want to be. There is plenty of room at the top.

Too many persons like to stay with the average or those who support mediocrity.

It's all right to start at the bottom but don't stay there. Get an education, right in school or as an apprentice on the job. Choose associates who bring out your best.

Become involved with and support the Free Enterprise System.

During the question and answer period, they fully supported the American Free Enterprise System. All gave testimony to the fact that they wouldn't be where they are now without it. "It is the only way to go."

Those FBLA Chapters attending were Park City, Wasatch, and South Summit. The students were generous with their praise of the program and those who took time out of their busy schedule to support the youth of this area.
